

A Time to Harvest

The Second Vatican Council was the sower. Now we are the laborers.

LADISLAS ORSY | OCTOBER 8, 2012

The message of this article is simple: the Second Vatican Council lives, and we are bound to sustain it. The council lives because the impulse of the Spirit that “caused” the council continues in the community at large. The Catholics of today, therefore, ought to call out daily Adsumus, that is, “We are present,” just as the bishops in St. Peter’s Basilica cried out at the beginning of every session. The invocation indicates the willingness of the community to be open to the Spirit and to do the work of the Spirit.

This article is available only to subscribers.

If you are a subscriber, click here to log in and be returned to this article. To subscribe to America's print edition, click here. To subscribe to America's web edition, click here.