Beginning in October, the new starting time for the Sunday Masses will be 9 a.m. and 11 a.m.

❖ Life Chain 2012. Our church invites you to a one hour peaceful demonstration on Sunday, September 30, from 2-3 p.m. at Bayview and Sheppard. Holding signs for one hour, through this silent, prayerful demonstration we try to raise people's awareness to the sanctity of human life. Let us encourage each other to participate, being ourselves a good example.

❖ Catholic Register. We regularly update the list of those parishioners, who receive the Catholic Register free for one year. After one year the journal mails out subscription orders to these parishioners, which is part of their business policy. If you subscribed to the Register, please let us know, so we could remove you from the list of those, who receive it for free, freeing a space for another parishioner. Those parishioners, who do not receive the Register yet, but would like to get it for one year for free, please contact the church office.

❖ The month of the Holy Scripture. We know that the whole year belongs to the Word of God, but still, at the end of September we celebrate the Sunday of the Holy Scripture separately. How dusty is your Bible? Do you read frequently the message of your Creator and Redeemer, more frequently than any other earthly giant's wisdoms and messages? If you need a Bible, please contact the church office.

❖ 24 hour adoration. The Year of Faith, announced by the Holy Father, starts in October. Every first Wednesday of the month at 8 a.m. we expose the Blessed Sacrament until 7.30 a.m. the next morning. Please let us know, which hour of the day or night you wish to spend with our Savior. It is possible to sign up for more hours. "Officially", we need 2 or 3 persons for every hour. The days for 2012 are: Oct. 3, Nov. 7, and Dec. 5.

Holy Name of Mary

The Feast of the Holy Name of Mary is a feast day in the Roman Catholic Church celebrated on September 12th to honour the name of Mary the mother of Jesus. It has been a universal Roman Rite feast since 1684, when Pope Innocent XI included it in the General Roman Calendar to commemorate the victory at the Battle of Vienna in 1683 over the Turks. Before the battle, John III Sobieski placed his troops under the protection of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The popularity of the adoration in Central Europe was inspired mainly by the Marienhilf holy picture of Passau, Germany. During the siege of Vienna by the Turks, Leopold I Habsburg, Holy Roman Emperor, escaped to Passau, where he prayed in a cloister on front of this holy picture for victory. After his prayer was heard, the adoration of the picture spread rapidly. The victory by Vienna was followed by the the liberation of Hungary, which was also attributed to intercession of Mary.

Let's Bridge in Budapest with Focolare

BUDAPEST, Hungary, SEPT. 4, 2012 (Zenit.org).- In a message to Maria Voce, president of the Focolare Movement, Pope Benedict XVI greeted participants of the movement's annual Genfest youth gathering held in Budapest last weekend. An estimated 12,000 youth attended the three-day event that focused on the theme "Let's Bridge!"

Through his secretary of state, Cardinal Tarcisio Bertone, the Holy Father expressed his joy at the meeting and spoke of the city of Budapest as an "eloquent symbol" of the event's theme.

"The numerous bridges that span the Danube, that connect the settlements from Buda and Pest and make them a single unity, were destroyed during World War II," he reflected. "Yet, born from the ashes of that terrible conflict was the determination to build peace on lasting foundations, a determination that was the inspiration at the base of the foundation of the Focolare Movement. The bridges of the Danube were reconstructed and the international community was determined to eliminate once and for all the conditions that could lead to a future conflict."

Founded in 1943 by Chiara Lubich, the Focolare Movement has spread to more than 100 nations across the globe. The ecclesial movement focuses on the spirituality of unity and universal brotherhood. According to the official Web site of Genfest, the purpose of the youth gathering is "to show the world that universal brotherhood, a united world, is an Ideal worth living for."

The Pope expressed his desire that the meeting's presence in Budapest would encourage the ideal of bridging the gap among people of different cultures. "I hope that this most beautiful city will be a sign of hope to inspire all the young people present to offer a hand of friendship to those who come from other contexts and cultures, so as to give shape to the earthly city in unity and peace, rendering it in some measure an anticipation and a prefiguration of the undivided city of God," the papal message said.

The current president of the Focolare movement, Maria Voce, echoed the Holy Father's sentiment and spoke on the event's theme during her keynote address, calling on the youth to use their talents and abilities in serving others. "Begin to love concretely. The first step will not involve grand scale actions, but those small acts of love that make life great and have the power to change the world and influence society and never allow the bridges that have been built today to lessen," Voce said.
