Pope Benedict XVI urges careful preparation for First Communion

Dear friends, the Church at Easter time usually administers First Communion to children. I therefore urge the pastors, parents and catechists to prepare this feast of faith well, with great fervor, but also with sobriety.

First Communion marks the moment when we understand the importance of a personal encounter with Jesus. Christ promised the Church his continued presence in the Word and the Eucharist. Therefore, just as the disciples of Emmaus recognized Jesus in the breaking of the bread, so we meet the Lord in the Eucharistic celebration.

The disciples were incredulous and frightened when they first saw the risen Christ, initially mistaking him for a ghost. In response, Jesus showed his hands and feet which displayed the marks of the crucifixion. He also asked for food, and received a piece of baked fish.

These very realistic signs helped the disciples open up to the gift of faith – which in turn helped them understand the things written on Christ in the law of Moses, the Prophets and the Psalms.

May the Mother of God help us to listen attentively to the Word of the Lord and participate worthily in the Eucharistic Sacrifice, to become witnesses of the new humanity (Vatican City, Apr 22, 2012).
